KCRO	9/18/2006	8/22/2006	JOSEPH D. MCCOMMON, JR.	Pleasant Hill	Cass	Burning	Northeast Cass County Fire	MC	A2623
Comments	The Northeast Cass County Fire Protection District stated the reported party burned a pile of refuse on August 22, 2006. Lumber, wire, small appliances and metal containers were included in the fire. According to Mrs. McCommon, the refuse included material that did not originate on the premises. Mr. Michael Cunningham, an inspector with the Missouri Department of Natural Resources' Kansas City Regional Office (KCRO), advised Mrs. McCommon that the burning is illegal and asked her not to burn in the future. Mr. Cunningham issued Notice of Violation (NOV) #A2623KC to the reported party for the violation.
Comp. No.	KC10965	Comp. Info	The Northeast Cass County Fire Protection District responded to a fire in the Pleasant Hill area. Upon arrival at the scene, fire personnel observed what appeared to be a demolished home that was set on fire. Fire personnel also observed other refuse such as furniture being burned. The fire department was unable to determine the owner of the property. The fire department will fax an incident report to the regional office upon completion.
KCRO	9/20/2006	9/1/2006	TOM PAYNE	Higginsville	Lafayette	Burning	Higginsville Police Department	MC
Comments	Mr. Cunningham noted the reported party burned refuse at a trailer court containing more than four dwelling units. The refuse consisted of items removed from trailers on the property, which included a mattress, carpet padding, several magazines, and items formerly removed from a school. Mr. Cunningham reminded the reported party that the burning of trade waste, construction waste, salvage operation waste, or demolition project waste is illegal. Additionally, the burning of household refuse is illegal if the property contains more than four dwelling units. Also, Mr. Cunningham advised the reported party that the burning of vegetative refuse would only be allowed if the department issued the reported party a permit. Because the reported party was confused with his past conversations with the department in regards to what was allowable under Missouri's open burning rule, Mr. Cunningham gave a letter of warning to the reported party and informed him that further violations will likely result in the issuance of a NOV, which could result in civil penalties.
Comp. No.	KC10962	Comp. Info	On September 1, 2006, at approximately 12:35 p.m., the complainant observed the reported party open burning of a large pile of trash and debris. The police department determined the fire was set by the reported party.

Specifically, the refuse consisted of shingles originating from the roof of the reported party's daughter's shed. Ms. Griffin believes the incident most likely occurred on September 14, 2006. Due to the regulation restricting the open burning of construction/demolition waste, Ms. Griffin issued NOV #A2624KC for this violation.
Comp. No.	KC10981	Comp. The school is building a new gymnasium, which will be connected to some of the existing school buildings by a new hallway and by cutting at least one door into the existing building exterior. However, Mead Environmental recently inspected the school (in July of 2006) and the inspection report is being maintained on-site as part of the asbestos management plan (per the AHERA). Mr. Raney also spoke with James, who is the head of the maintenance department for Bismarck Schools. James stated he previously had asbestos awareness training. Chuck, a site supervisor for Brockmiller Construction of Farmington, was also on-site. Ms. Evans noted that three employees operate the incinerators. Approximately four cremations occur on a daily basis (two cremations per incinerator). Records of the amount of waste recorded daily is in accordance with the permit. In August 2006 a new blower motor was installed on Unit #1 by Mark's HVAC Service. The operation checked out and the unit is okay. According to the records, it appears that on the day of complaint one unit was not adequately cooled down before another cremation occurred. The unit started at 7:30 a.m. and ended at 4:30 p.m. for the first cremation and then restarted at 4:35 p.m. for the second. Ms. Evans recommended the facility start doing a routine maintenance schedule on both incinerators.

Comments	Mr. Briney went to the property and met with Mr. Krigbaum. Shortly after his arrival a truck arrived to get a load of fertilizer. Mr. Briney viewed the loading operations with Mr. Krigbaum from his property. Upon first observation it appeared there was a great deal of dust being generated from this operation. Mr. Briney moved to the east side of the fertilizer facility to position the sun behind his back. From the middle of Walnut Street Mr. Briney viewed the dust emissions with the sun to his back. There was not any significant fertilizer dust visibly leaving the property from this position. Winds were variable at the time of the observations. Mr. Krigbaum and Mr. Briney then observed some dust accumulation on the hood of his truck, van, and on his tractors. There was evidence of the red fertilizer on these vehicles. From the observations at the time of the investigation it appeared that the dust accumulation was due to dust settling out from the fertilizer conveying process. On October 24, 2006, Mr. Briney spoke with Mr. Steven Forbis, General Manager for Monroe County Service Company. Mr. Briney explained to Mr. Forbis what was found during the investigation. Mr. Forbis had received a letter of warning for fugitive dust violations on October 4, 2006. In the letter of warning the facility was required to implement a plan to control emissions from the facility. Mr. Forbis stated he had someone look into building a cover and spout for the conveyor. Mr. Briney explained that the facility had to take steps to control emissions by the deadline set in the letter of warning. Mr. Briney told Mr. Forbis that if the facility has not made steps to control these emissions by the deadline the types of observations made during my investigation could result in an NOV.

A friend brought a load of waste to their home and they were going to burn it for him. They had one computer, which was not in the burn pile. Mostly junk. No shingles burned but a pile on site. There is no regulation by county and they are out of the city limits. So they may burn household waste generated on site. But not any waste brought to the site. Informed Mrs. O'Neil they can not accept waste from other sources and burn. But they may burn their own waste excluding tire, asbestos, plastics, shingles. All neighbors have burn barrels or burn piles. Requested waste on trailer be taken to transfer station for proper disposal, and to keep receipt for disposal. Since it could not be determined if the reported party had burned waste hauled to site, Mr. Wampler did not cite a violation. The O'Neil's have recently made a neighbor upset. He was connected to their sewer lagoon and they capped his line and disconnected his line. He and another partner had to put in their own septic system. Comments	Ms. Diane Fouraker, secretary for the Sunrise Beach Fire Department, stated Camden County Stone is land clearing and burning a huge brush pile. On September 19, 2006, the facility was burning, the fire department responded to a complaint, and the fire was extinguished. The facility does not have a burn permit. Ms. Evans noted the asphalt plant is not burning. If tar is leaving the property it is coming off of the trucks while traveling down Highway 5. Ms. Evans sent a letter of warning to Camden County Stone concerning open burning without a permit.
Comp. No.	SW9226	Comp. Info	The complainant stated the reported party is open burning and fugitive emissions are leaving the property. The complainant believes the reported party is dealing with permit issues.
SWRO	10/3/2006	9/28/2006	GREENLAWN NORTH FUNERAL H	Springfield	Greene	Other	David Switzer	GLE
Comments	Ms. Evans noted that three employees operate the incinerators. Approximately four cremations occur on a daily basis (two cremations per incinerator). Records of the amount of waste recorded daily is in accordance with the permit. In August 2006 a new blower motor was installed on Unit #1 by Mark's HVAC Service. The operation checked out and the unit is okay. According to the records, it appears that on the day of complaint one unit was not adequately cooled down before another cremation occurred. The unit started at 7:30 a.m. and ended at 4:30 p.m. for the first cremation and then restarted at 4:35 p.m. for the second. Ms. Evans recommended the facility start doing a routine maintenance schedule on both incinerators.

Comments	The acting chief for the Louisburg Fire Department, Mr. Roy Barclay, called the emergency response hotline on October 13, 2006, to report a tire fire. When Ms. Evans arrived at the site, the fire department had put the fire out. They said that there was at least 100 tires burning when they arrived on-site. The fire was put out by foam. According to the fire department this is possibly a yearly occurrence. No one was at home when Ms. Evans arrived on-site. Ms. Evans spoke with Mr. Rick Hale on October 16, 2006. He stated the tires had caught on fire by accident. He was actually burning the solid waste and the fire spread. Based on the observation of the site, there did not appear to be a separation of piles. Ms. Evans told Mr. Hale he would be receiving either a letter of warning or a NOV for the burn. Ms. Evans sent a list of waste tire haulers to Mr. Hale for the disposal of the remaining tires on site. Ms. Evans sent Mr. Hale a copy of the open burning regulations.
